ROW AT COKE MINES GETS MORE SERIOUS.

HARDLY A FURNACE FIRE GOING TODAY.

Workmen Are All Gathering at the Moyer Works and Trouble is Feared—Great Northern Situation—Ashland People in an Uneasy Frame of Mind.

SCOTDALE, Pa., May 8—The entire coke region is almost smokeless today The strikers are assembled at the Moyer plant and trouble is feared.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 7.—It is given out here on good authority that the flour milling interests the country over may have to contend with a strike or give in to demands which are to be presented to the mill owners as soon as the organization now being established among the millers is on a firm footing. It appears that while General Master Sovereign of the Knights of Labor was in Minneapolis, ostensibly lending moral assistance to Grand Chief Debs in the Great Northern strike, his real purpose was to organize the millers within the ranks of the Knights of Labor. He succeeded in forming an assembly, and 150 millers signed the charter of the "Flour Mill Employes association No. 606." A member of the latter states that organizers are now or will soon be work in Duluth, Milwaukee, Rochester, New York, Buffalo, St. Louis and New York city, and that while there is no talk of a strike at present there is a prospect that demands will be formulated and presented to the mill owners. The mill workers here and at Topeka are not situated so as to be brought in at present, but they will be as soon as it is possible to form an organization.

GREAT NORTHERN IN TROUBLE.

Strike May Be Renewed Before Previous Difficulties Are Adjusted.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 7.—The Globe says that all is not harmonious in Great Northern railroad circles, and on the authority of leading members of the American Railway Union it is stated that the company is acting in bad faith already. It is not waiting for a complete adjustment of all the differences by arbitration before beginning in some particulars to follow the same course that led up to the strike. It is quietly suggested that the road could be tied up again in a few hours' time. The Great Northern employes' conference committee is said to be again assembling in the city, and the officials of this committee will go over the ground upon which the new disputes have arisen. Mr. Debs may be recalled to the city.

Deputy United States Marshals Shortall and Warren returned last night from Barnesville, Minn., bringing with them several Great Northern railray employes charged with interfering with the mails or conspiring to so interfere. The offense with which they were charged is alleged to have occurred during the recent strike. A large number of warrants are yet in the hands of the deputy marshals to be served and the work will probably continue for some time.

Among the subjects billed to receive the attention of the legislature next winter is that of arbitration in labor troubles. The sentiment in this state appears to be rather in favor of a measure providing for the selection of arbitrators at the time the difficulty arises than of a permanent board of arbitration.

ASHLAND, Wis., May 7.—Saturday morning the jury in the intimidation case brought against some of the striking dockmen informed the presiding judge that they could not agree and he discharged them. They had been out since Friday afternoon. The strike has taken a new turn, both the Northwestern and Central railroad companies positively refusing to recognize the men at all as long as they remain in the union.

DECATUR MINERS DISSATISFIED.

Many Claim That They Were Unwillingly Forced to Quit Work.

DECATUR, Ill., May 7.—An ugly feeling has developed among the Decatur miners. When it was voted that all should quit work out of sympathy for the strikers at other points only 250 of the 400 miners were present, and the vote was 143 in the affirmative and 87 in the negative. One hundred and fifty staid away. Many of the miners have no way of earning a living except by digging for coal. There is quite a row over the question, two of the men shut out claiming that the tie-up in Decatur is largely due to those miners who work only two or three days a week and have only themselves to support. Many of the men will be out of funds in a few days.

SHEFFIELD, Ill., May 7.—The mines of the Sheffield Mining company, located at that place, are shut down, the heavy rains of Saturday night having caused the roof to fall in. It is the greatest caving-in which has occurred since the mines were opened thirty years ago.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 7.—W. J. Guymon, state secretary of the United Mineworkers of Illinois, said yesterday that the strike situation was very satisfactory, and he had no doubt that the movements of the strikers would be attended with complete success, and that very speedily. Secretary Guymon has figures showing that in fifty-one mining towns in Illinois south of the Ohio & Mississippi railroad 7,000 miners are out and organized.

LINCOLN, Ill., May 7.—The miners in the two shafts here are still out from sympathy with the strikers elsewhere, though they have no claim of grievances against the local operators. The coal supply is almost exhausted and unless the strike is soon ended a famine will ensue. At Mount Pulaski, in this county, the coal company has leased its shaft to the miners to operate as a co-operative shaft, and they will take possession this week.

CLINTON, Mo., May 7.—The miners of Deep Water, Brownington, and North Station yesterday declined to meet Organizer McGregor of the United Mine Workers' Union, which is tantamount to a refusal to strike in sympathy with the national organization.

APPEAL FROM BIRMINGHAM MINERS

Operators Declare That an Increased Production Is at Hand.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 7.—The latest phase of the strike is the want existing among the strikers and the hunger of their families. An appeal for help has been issued. The appeal is directed to the trades unions and alliances of Alabama. The operators on the other hand had a meeting and formed plans to fill every mine with workers during the coming week. Complete protection both by state and counties is assured and systematically arranged. The negroes have been made to understand this and have held a meeting and decided to go to work.

TRINIDAD, Colo., May 7.—All the mines in this district are closed down with the exception of Sopris, at which place about 150 men are at work. It is expected that the Gray Creek miners will go to work to-day.

BLOSSBURG, N. M., May 7.—Four hundred miners employed in the Santa Fe company's mine at this place have gone out and will not resume work until the strike in the east is settled.

PITTSBURG, Kan., May 7.—At a mass meeting of Strip coal miners of this district an organization was urged upon and the men refused to strike.

Mob at Cleveland Runs Under Fire.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 7.—A fight occurred yesterday afternoon at the Standard foundry, where a strike has been in progress for several weeks. About 5 o'clock an assault was made upon the building, a volley of stones and other missiles being hurled at the windows. The guards inside, who were armed with rifles, opened fire on the crowd and the battle raged for fully fifteen minutes before the police arrived. It is said that at least 160 shots were fired. The officers have been trying to ascertain if anybody was shot, but thus far have been unable to find a single person who was injured.

BIG PATENT CASE.

Involves Validity of Nearly All the Air Brakes in Use.

NEW YORK, May 7.—One of the most important patent suits ever tried in the country is being tried in the United States Court of Appeals in the federal building, where Judges Wallace, Lacombe and Shipman are presiding. The litigation concerns the validity of the patent rights of nearly all the air brakes in use on the railroads of the United States and involves several millions of dollars. Six months ago the Westinghouse Air Brake company brought a suit against the New York Air Brake company and its officers for infringement of their patent right. In reference to the principal patent involved Judge Townsend decided in favor of the plaintiffs and granted an injunction. As to other patents, he held that there was no infringement on the part of the defendants. Both sides have appealed from his decision.

DENIES THE STORY.

New Says He Was Not Interviewed Concerning Harrison.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 7.—Mr. Harry S. New of the Journal disclaims ever having been interviewed on the subject of Gen. Harrison's candidacy. He did say in a purely personal conversation that he believed that Mr. Harrison would be the people's choice in 1896, but did not talk with authority nor with any assertion of authority. The author of the reported interview did not hear the conversation but was told that a conversation on the subject had been held and, without ever knowing the substance of the conversation, wrote the alleged interview.

The Evolution of Perfumes.

What the French know about perfume-making is not all the result of their own experience. The traditional history of the art is that the Hebrews imparted the little they knew to their captors, the Egyptians, who in turn gave their formulas to the Greeks and Romans. The Moors then took a hand at improving these crude efforts and, when they invaded Europe, left their art in Spain whence it soon reached France. There it found its home and resting place and to-day no nation can compete with France in the science and art of perfume-making.

Want to Reclaim Arid Lands

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., May 7.—It has been determined by the citizens of this valley to memorialize congress to build two large canals to reclaim lands in western Colorado and eastern Utah. The memorial contemplates the withdrawal from entry of the lands to be reclaimed, of which, on the scale contemplated, there are nearly 1,000,000 acres in Utah alone. The estimated cost is $5,000,000.

RANDALL GETS OUT OF HIS PRISON PEN.

DISGUSTED COXEYITES AGAIN ON THE ROAD.

St. Paul Chamber of Commerce Adopts Resolutions Declaring That the Movement Is Based on Nonsense and Productive of Evil—How the Different Armies Fare.

ST. PAUL, May 7—A resolution was introduced in the chamber of commerce to-day deprecating the Coxey movement as nonsense and productive only of evil.

VALPARAIZO, Ind., May 7—General Randall, the Illinois Coxey, was the most disgusted man in seven states when he pulled out of here for Westville this morning. All day Sunday his men were kept prisoners in the Valparaiso fair grounds. General Randall was the hero of the day, for by strategy and a long speech he prevented what might have been a riot between the deputies and 600 students of the Northern Indiana Normal school. The students started out with the resolution to get inside the fair grounds. The marshals refused them permission and there was some talk of the students forcing their way in, but Randall succeeded in persuading them to desist.

Randall's soldiers are suffering. During last night's rain the men were quartered at the fair grounds stables. They could not sleep there long, for within a few minutes after the rainstorm broke loose there were two inches of water in the sheds. At midnight the entire regiment made a run for the grand stand, and the men stood up on the benches for nearly six hours without a wink of sleep. It was a severe test of endurance, for every man had tramped fourteen miles through rain and mud the day before. Sixteen men were taken sick with chills and fever. Rainy weather, muddy roads, long marches on empty stomachs have caused considerable dissension in the ranks of the regiment. The men fared fairly well yesterday, but had to eat their supper without bread. There was not a piece of bread in the commissary. The citizens of Valparaiso would have probably supplied some food had not the city authorities shut out all visitors. Dr. C. H. Johnston, the secretary of the board of health of Porter county, and Dr. Letherman, the city secretary, examined the army and gave the men a certificate of health. They declared that the men were all vaccinated and that there was no danger of contagion.

KELLY'S MEN BUILD BOATS.

Soldiers Work on the First Section of the Commonweal Fleet.

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 7.—Five hundred members of Kelly's army have turned boat builders and fifty-five flat boats are completed or nearly so. The first boat was launched last evening. The boats are six feet wide by sixteen feet long and are strongly built. It is the intention when they are afloat to lash them together by twos. Commodore Kelly advanced $300 of the army's funds toward paying for the material, and it is expected that about $600 will be raised by contributions before the fleet leaves on its trip down the river, as $160 was collected yesterday. Kelly in an address told of his plan for irrigation of western lands and spoke of how matters would be bettered by the passage by congress of the measure which he proposes for irrigation by government appropriation. He said that when his army appeared inside the capitol he believed the result would be secured.

It is possible that a start will be made to-morrow afternoon or Wednesday morning at the furthest. The plan is to start each day as soon as it becomes light and to float until dark, and it is believed that the fleet can average at least three miles an hour.

A meeting of the Trade and Labor assembly was held last night and an appeal was issued to organize labor in the United States and Canada asking that they send at least $1 each by telegraph to Charles T. Kelly. The appeal states that Kelly's men are destitute and sadly in need of clothing and food. It is signed by all labor leaders in the state.

FAIL TO STOP THE ARMY.

Commonwealers Shipped as "Merchandise"—Their Car Sidetracked.

TACOMA, Wash., May 7.—The receivers and officials of the Northern Pacific are growing weary of the repeated failures of Olney's special deputy marshals to prevent the commonwealers from stealing rides on trains. These officials have been notified that it is impossible to prevent the industrials from riding unless they are arrested or unless trains are tied up, thus starving them out and compelling them to walk. The leaders prize move was discovered yesterday, when fifty commonwealers labeled "merchandise" were located in a box car near Sprague, 300 miles from Puyallup, where the car was officially sealed and billed for Spokane. Jumbo shipped some supplies from Puyallup last week, and juggled with the box car until he succeeded in shipping commonwealers as commissary supplies. The men refuse to leave the car. It has been side-tracked.

SPOKANE, Wash., May 7.—The first big wave of western Washington Coxeyites rolled in yesterday. There are about 300 of them. The regiment here was given a benefit at Twickenham

RESCUED BY A DIVER FROM THE CAVERN.

TOURISTS IMPRISONED IN THE ZORACH CAVE.

Fall of the Roof Blocked the Passage Way to the Stalactite Hall and the Sight-Seers Thus Pinned In Were Not Heard From Until Today When They Were Rescued.

GRATZ, Austria, May 7—Tourists who were imprisoned in the stalactite cavern at Zorach by the carving of a passage way were reached this morning by a diver. All are alive.

New Panama Canal Scheme.

PARIS, May 7.—It is stated that several million francs which Dr. Cornelius Herz, M. Eiffel and the executors of the estate of Baron de Reinach have agreed to repay to the liquidator of the Panama Canal company, an agreement which has been approved by the courts, will be used as the basis of a fresh scheme to complete the Panama canal.

Fastest on Record.

HAVRE, May 7.—The steamship La Touraine, which left New York on Saturday, April 28, at 8:30 a. m., with John Jacob Astor and family, Mme. Calve and Henri N. Braem, Danish consul to New York, among her passengers, arrived at 6 a. m. The time of the voyage between New York and Queenstown, five days and sixteen hours, was the shortest on record.

A Woman Dies of Fright.

PARIS, May 7.—A dynamite bomb was exploded in Lourches, near Vincennes, Nobody was injured by fragments of the bomb but a woman died of fright half an hour after the explosion shook the village. Another woman is very low and may die of the shock. A man suspected of placing the bomb has been arrested.

GOSSIP FROM WASHINGTON

Legislative Program for the Week—Strong Speeches Expected.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The armor plate board, which is preparing to go to Pittsburg to take testimony, will have an opportunity of inspecting the mills engaged in making armor plate. It is expected that the naval appropriation bill will be reached in the house Wednesday, and Chairman Cummings of the naval committee thinks one day will be sufficient for the consideration and passage of the measure. There is a chance, however, that an animated controversy may arise over the armor plate frauds. The committee will not provoke the contest, as these frauds have already induced the committee to cut the appropriation for armor plate. There are members outside the committee, however, who would like to ventilate the whole subject on the floor of the house. The naval bill contains few items of general interest, no new battleship being authorized, and the appropriations being restricted mainly to the current needs of the naval service.

THE NEW MEXICO BILL.

The Statehood Measure Likely to Stir Up the House.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The coming week in the house promises to give opportunity for another effort to admit New Mexico into statehood, for a sharp contest over purchasing a new site for the government printing office, and then for a consideration of the remaining appropriation bills on the calendar—naval, Indian, and agricultural. To-day being individual suspension day permits bills to be called up out of their order. The friends of the New Mexico bill have long awaited this opportunity, as the new quorum-counting rule gives them a hope of passing the bill. The Indian appropriation will consume the latter part of the week. Chairman Holman, who reported it, has inaugurated several features of economy which reduce the total of the bill about $1,000,000 below the totals of previous years. This promises to bring out sharp comment. Representative Wilson of Washington state is prepared to maintain that economy should not be carried to the extent of crippling the Indian service. Mr. Wilson will present one amendment of a semi-political character providing that no appointments as Indian agents shall be made except from bona fide residents of the states and territories within which the Indian agencies are located. He will urge this as a practical application of the home rule plank of the Chicago platform. Mr. Wilson says the discussion of the bill will be so thorough that it can not be passed within a week.

This program with the naval appropriation bill will probably keep the house busy throughout the week. If, however, the Indian bill is disposed of easier than expected the agricultural appropriation bill will consume the rest of the week. The most important committee work of the week will be the reporting of the legislative and judicial appropriation bill, which is the last of the great appropriation bills.

THE NEW TARIFF BILL.

Prospects for an Interesting Week in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—This week will in all probability witness some interesting developments in the tariff discussion. The armistice arranged Friday will end to-morrow, if not continued by agreement, and the debate, which was interrupted Friday in the midst of one of Mr. Quay's sentences to allow the democrats to arrange their compromise, will be resumed if the compromise shall prove to have progressed so far as to admit of the introduction of the amendments proposed. If the latest democratic plans do not fail the amendments may be introduced to-day. The senators who are engaged in formulating them were hard at work upon them all yesterday. No definite idea of the amendments could be conveyed without giving all the amendments, and they will not be given to the press until presented in the senate. There will be few startling changes, but a great many of them. Indeed, it is known that the amendments when incorporated in the bill will show as many if not more alterations than were made in the house bill by the finance committee when reported to the senate. It may be said without prejudice that the report when made will fully justify the assertions made by the republicans as to their number on the floor of the senate. The amendments will be found most numerous in the chemical, iron and steel, agricultural and sugar schedules, but they will affect the entire bill, including woolens, cotton goods, metals and many other articles. In almost every instance where there have been changes increases have been made, and there has been a general slaughtering of the ad valorem for specifics. The sugar schedule is totally changed, and iron manufactures will show an interesting transformation if reports be correct. With the amendments once in the senate it will be interesting to observe the program of the republicans. The democrats have believed that if they could secure a bill which would insure the support of forty-three senators the republicans would yield after a formal protest against the bill, and they have assured the republican tariff leaders that the bill which they hope to present will have the support of forty-three democratic senators, to say nothing of the assistance they hope to secure from the populist senators. The week will probably demonstrate what credence the republican senators can give to this statement and develop their plans in case it be verified.

It is understood that if when the compromise bill is once before the senate the republicans do not show a disposition to discuss its merits upon lines laid down by the democratic managers, they will make an effort to expedite business by lengthening the hours of the daily sessions and by curtailing the liberties of debate now enjoyed. This policy was curtly intimated in the reply made by Senator Harris to an inquiry as to whether the present hours would be observed after Tuesday. "Yes," he replied. "Until we move for longer." The republicans will resist an effort of this character and when it is made some unwritten speeches may be expected. The only set speech so far announced for the week is one by Senator Hoar to-morrow. The Chinese treaty will occupy the senate to-day.

Pushing a Railway Project.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—D. A. Holmes of Sioux City, Iowa, is in Washington on a western project of importance. He represents the Northwestern railroad, which was recently organized in Sioux City, and his mission here is to obtain legislation for the right of way through the Omaha and Winnebago Indian reservation in Nebraska. The line is to extend from Sioux City to Omaha, but will later be sent southward to the boundary of Nebraska, where it will connect with one of the roads running to the Gulf of Mexico.

Immigration Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Immigration congress which assembles in Augusta, Ga., the 30th day of May, will be an imposing assemblage. No particular subjects will be assigned to the governors or their delegates. It will be a mutual conference of eminent scientists, geologists, manufacturers, farmers, railroad managers, and governors of the states to consider the sanitary environments, mineral deposits, manufacturing capabilities, agricultural resources, improved transportation, and the general welfare of the southern states.

COST OF COXEY MOVEMENT

Expense to Government Said to Be $1,000 a Day.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Coxey movement in the northwest is already putting the government to heavy expense. The treasury department has submitted to the house an estimate of a prospective deficiency of $50,000 for fees and expenses of United States marshals. In asking the treasury to submit the deficiency appropriation question to congress Attorney-General Olney says:

"An extraordinary kind of expense arises from bands of restless men in various sections of the country seizing upon property in the custody of the United States court. Authorized expenses are already going on in Washington at the rate of $1,000 per day; an indefinite amount of expenses has been incurred and is growing in Montana, and other expense may be expected for which provisions should be made."

To Extradite a French Forger.

QUEBEC, Canada, May 7.—The case of forgery against the Count de Villenevue has taken a peculiar turn. Judge Bosse quashed the habeas corpus and ordered M. Le Comte to be extradited.

EMPEROR WAS CHIEF AT A GATEOW FIRE.

BOSSED THE GERMAN FIREMEN IN PERSON.

Ruler Shows He is an Expert With the Hose as Well as With the Sceptor—Italy's Monarch, King Humbert in a Bad Way From Cancer.

POTTSDAM, May 7—Emperor William in person directed the work of the fire department this morning during the effort to save the village of Gateow. Under his supervision the firemen worked well, but the fire had too much of a start and the village was almost destroyed.

ROME, May 7.—Cancer of the larynx, almost identical with the disease with which the late Emperor Frederick of Germany was afflicted, has established its hold upon King Humbert of Italy. This has been known for some time among the confidants of the king, but it is only recently that the secret has been divulged. The news can not but create much uneasiness as regards the political situation, both at home and abroad, owing to the dictatorial attitude which has been of late assumed by Premier Crispi, who seems bent upon securing for himself supreme power in Italy.

TO CONTINUE THE SEARCH.

Will Explore Ellsmere Land for Traces of Bjorling.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 7.—Although dispatches from St Johns, N. F., announce that the proposed expedition to Ellsmere land to search for traces of the Swedish arctic exploring expedition—headed by Bjorling—will be abandoned the friends of the five men who composed the party are informed that the Peary auxiliary expedition—headed by Henry C. Bryant and sent out by the Geographical club of this city—will explore Ellsmere land for any records that Bjorling may have left there. Ellsmere land is about thirty-five miles west of Peary's rendezvous, and Mr. Bryant, who is familiar with the story of Bjoring's ill-fated journey, says that even before he heard of the failure of Prof. Stein's expedition he had made up his mind to visit Ellsmere land for the purpose of learning something of Bjorling's fate.

WHITELY WORKS BURNED.

Big Reaper Factory at Muncie, Ind., Destroyed—Loss, $245,000.

MUNCIE, Ind., May 7.—At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the William N. Whitely reaper works and mower works were discovered on fire and are now a mass of ruins with all contents was destroyed. The factory, which consisted of one main building 40 by 500 feet with fifteen wings 40 by 200 feet, covered five acres and was located just north of Muncie in the new suburb, Whitely. The factory will probably be rebuilt on a much larger scale. The loss will not financially embarrass Mr. Whitely, as he lately won suits from the McCormick and other reaper companies for infringements and will receive about $800,000.

IN HIS OWN DEFENSE.

Col. Breckinridge Speaks—Says His Trial Was Unfair.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 7.—Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge yesterday opened his campaign for re-election to congress by addressing a large meeting in this city. It was his first public appearance since the beginning of the Pollard-Breckinridge trial. After discussing political issues at some length he turned to the question brought up by the trial. He denounced those who had circulated false reports against him in the district, and declared his trial was unfair. His reception was most enthusiastic, and it is certain that he has many friends who intend to stand by him.

Run Down by an Engine.

ASHLAND, Mass., May 7.—As Mrs. Dr. A. W. Thipp of Hopkinton and her two sons were crossing the New York & New England railroad here to-day their carriage was struck by an engine and all three of them sustained probably fatal injuries.

The Senegal May Be Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 7.—The British ship Senegal, bound from San Diego for Tacoma, is long overdue and grave fears are entertained for her safety. She left San Diego March 15 and has not been heard of.

CADWALLADOR GOES BACK TO HIS CELL.

HE OUGHT TO HAVE TRIED THE CHIMNEY.

Men Who Get Out Through the Jai Roof cHave a Good Deal Better Chance of Enjoying Life This Summer Than Will the Dapper Young Man From Philadelphia.

Before he gets through Albert C. Cadwallader may wish he had gone out through the chimney of the Janesville jail the night of the delivery. A disagreement in Madison last night makes a new trial of his case nec essary. The jury was out thirty hours.

After the jurymen were dispersed it was learned that the last ballot stood eight for conviction and four for acquittal. The first ballot on the count charging embezzlement stood six to six, and on the other counts varied from that to nine to three for conviction.

Unless the district attorney moves to dismiss, a new trial will be necessary. No such motion will be made by District Attorney Harper, nor is it likely by his successor, on a case of this importance, and with the verdict so close for conviction.

Albert Absalom Cadwallader was born on a farm near Quakertown, Pa., just thirty years ago. His parents, C. H. Cadwallader and wife, were humble Quaker farmers, and they still reside in the vicinity of their son's birthplace. The Cadwallader family comprised beside the father, mother and son, one daughter. Mr. Cadwallader, junior, was naturally bright and acquired a liberal education to fit him for his life's work. He began his career in the Bryn Mawr National bank at Bryn Mawr, Pa., and finally arose to the position of cashier for this banking house. While at Bryn Mawr he married. His family up to the time he was incarcerated in jail included four children all girls, two of whom have died since he has been in jail. His next business step was to start the Superior National bank at West Superior, Wis., of which institution he became president. He represented his resources as unlimited and banking knowledge profound. Tnis was in 1891. Superior was then in her boom days, and Mr. Cadwallader did not search long until he found a sufficient number of local capitalists to become subscribers to the bank stock and assist the "self represented Napoleon of finance" in materializing his plans.

The Superior National Bank came into existence March 22, 1892. The capital stock was subscribed by James H. Agen, J. F. Merriam, A. A. Cadwallader, John J. Hollowell and Thomas G. Alvord. Hollowell came from Philadelphia and became cashier of the bank. The others are local men. The bank had hardly been started when frequent and mysterious meetings of the directors told that something was wrong. The trouble culminated April 23 when Thomas G. Alvord was elected to succeed Mr. Cadwallader as the bank's president.

The subsequent history of Cadwallader, his arrest and later his trip to South America to escape trial are well known. Mr. Cadwallader made a number of poor investments in West Superior which plainly showed that he placed too much confidence in the idle talk of real estate men. Many people in West Superior think he was more "sinned against than sinning," and that if left alone he might probably have pulled through all right, while others are convinced that he deliberately planned to wreck the bank and was guilty of actual embezzlement.

Did You Ever Meet a Truly Good Man!

No doubt you think you have, but we'll wager a dime or so he did not have the rheumatism. If he did, he swore occasionally, and no man can be truly good who swears occasionally. Health, nerve tranquility and morality are apt to go hand in hand. Painful spasmodic diseases like rheumatism and neuralgia ruin the temper, make one morose, peevish and rebellious. This is a sad fact, but it is none the less true. Drive away the pain, mollify the temper, restore tranquility of mind in cases of rheumatism and neuralgia with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an anodyne and tonic of comprehensive range and effect. It healthfully stimulates the kidneys, bladder, stomach, liver and bowels when inactive, and induces sleep and appetite. A very quieting effect, not an unnatural, stupifying one like that of an opiate, is produced by a wineglassful before retiring. It is incomparable in malarial disease.

WORK IS AN IMPORTANT ONE

Y. M. C. A. Movement Deserves the Co-operation of Every Good Citizen

The Y. M. C. A. building which is being erected in this city will not only be a pile of brick and mortar, unique in its architecture and magnificent in its proportions, but it will stand out as a structure with an individuality peculiarly its own. No one can pause for a moment and watch it gradually assuming shape and proportion without thinking for what the building stands. Erected by the generosity of Janesville's citizens, when completed and equipped it will speak with a voice that will be heard, a voice which has no uncertain ring and which will cry out against the evil of the city in tones that will command attention.

Representing all that is good, it stands dedicated to the sole purpose of uplifting mankind. Itself a child of charity, it extends to every man, old or young, white or black, saint or sinner a helping hand and offers to all shelter against the storm of sin and temptation which beats on every hand.

"With malice toward none but friendship to all" it will seek in every lawful and legitimate way to so reach the young men of our city that our citizens will point to it with pride and those who are now most skeptical in the undertaking will admit that it has a right to and should exist. Janesville has never had a place where her young men, those who hold the balance of power politically, socially and morally could gather any hour in the day, seven days in the week, and where all evil influences were eliminated—a place where all stand on the broad footing of equality where "a man's a man for a' that" and where everything tends to make a man think more of himself, realize more what his possibilities and responsibilities are and fill him with a desire to so exert his influence that it shall tell in the right direction. The board of directors of the association feel that it is high time that the city, progressive as it is in so many forms of charity should provide such a place for her young men, and they feel that they have a right to ask every citizen, man and woman, to at least give their good will to the undertaking and if they have been prosperous themselves financially, to help along the work in that way. Mr. Anderson, the state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. will be here to help again this week and the Board would bespeak for him the hearty cooperation of all and would ask all to have the matter in mind before he calls with some member of the board, so as to be able to talk understandingly on the matter. The citizens of Janesville have an opportunity offered now to make an investment which will bring back returns which cannot be calculated with figures.

HEBBERT J. CUNNINGHAM,
For the board of Directors.

AGED MAN STRUCK BY A STREET CAR.

WILLIAM M. BROOKHAUS HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

While Crossing Milwaukee Street He Paused in the Middle of the Track and Was Knocked Down By a Car Before the Motor Man had Time to Put on Brakes.

William M. Brookhaus was almost unconscious Sunday morning when he was picked up from the front of a street car on West Milwaukee street. The fire patrol ambulance was called and the injured man was taken to the Oak Lawn hospital for care and treatment.

The accident occurred at about half past 8 o'clock. Mr. Brookhaus was crossing Milwaukee street at River, at the same time a street car was approaching. The old man is very deaf besides being infirm on account of age, and did not hear or see the car. He had plenty of time to pass over the track, but when in the middle of the rails he stopped, and before the motor man could stop the car he was struck and knocked down. He fell with his feet toward the car, one leg on one side of the rail, one on the other. Only a miracle kept him from being split by the wheel, but in some way he was pushed along ahead of the wheel for nearly fifteen feet before the car stopped.

Able To Leave the Hospital.

At the hospital the injured man was attended by Dr. Henry Palmer. While the body, particularly the left shoulder, was badly bruised, there were no broken bones found. The old man was badly shaken up and frightened by the close call. At the hospital he appeared a little delirious, insisting that the doctor had the wrong man, that it was another man who was hurt, and that he was all right.

The patient was feeling very comfortable last evening, and this morning the matron thought he would be able to return to his home on North Main street some time during the day.

Mr. Brookhaus is quite an eccentric old man. He came to Janesville about one year ago from Australia, with his son and family. His son died during the summer at the Windsor house. The old man, unable to work, passed his time in drawing an old cart along the street, picking up refuse. He spent much time at the Doty & Norcross feed mill, picking stray kernels of corn from the cobs piled up in the shed. He is known to have sold two bushels of shelled corn at a time obtaining the corn in this manner.

SAM RYAN AND THE MAYOR.

Man Who Lives in a Glass House Too Fond of Stone-Throwing.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—The Recorder has seen fit to extract from a low-down attack upon our generally discreet mayor by one "Sam Ryan," published in the Appleton Crescent, as follows: "Janesville like many other cities is afflicted with a few dunces in high places. It has a mayor, an Englishman, named Thoroughgood, who exhibited the thorough bad taste of mixing in his partisan politics" (a la "Sam Ryan" at a late editorial convention) in his welcoming address to the Grand Army. Only an ignorant dunce whose conceit," &c., &c.

If "Sam" was a part of such Grand Army and present on the occasion referred to, he was at least a quasi guest of the city and its mayor, and should have demeaned himself accordingly. But if not a part of such army, he is an intruder, an excrescence, a banacle to be scraped from the social system.

I do not defend nor even palliate any unauthorized intrusion of "partisan politics" on like or similar occasions. But the self exaltation of him who is at least equally criminal, as to such matters, to a standard of high virtue at the expense of another, becomes a matter of public rebuke.

But why this rancor in the veins of "Sam" toward our Americanized mayor? The father of "Sam" was also born a British subject and—as I am informed—became a soldier of the crown stationed in Canada, whence, either prior or subsequent to the legal ending of his service as such, he migrated to the United States and became a resident of Green Bay, where "Sam" had his youthful experiences, and it is hoped he will not also go back on his lineage. And for all this his escapade mentioned and many idiosyncrasies are to me enigmas which I shall leave to others to discover and explain. J

Bring Lilies.

Bring pure white lilies unto me,
That I thy coffin may deck for thee;
Their whiteness will enlighten the gloom,
Their petals full of sweet perfume

Shall surround you, darling, on thy bed;
The blossoms shall lie on your breast, now dead,
No flower on all this world for thee,
Like the lily in its white purity.

Then bring lilies for my darling sweet;
Scatter them round her dainty feet.
Let me entwine them in her veil,
Emblems of love for my bride so pale.

Why did you die, my love, my wife
You have left me alone, with this cloud on my life.
God only knew the love in my heart,
And yet he has called you, and we must part.

Darling, your bed shall be pure and white
As you were. Must I say a last good night.
Bring lilies, you loved them so my queen;
Farewell for awhile, sweet bride so serene,

DIRECTUM IN DANGER.

Turned Loose From His Stall By Some Spiteful Person.

The announcement that Directum, the great California trotter, had fallen at exercise and so hurt his forehead that he might not trot this year was erroneous. It seems that the horse was turned loose from his stall at Pleasanton, Cal., by some spiteful person last Monday morning. He roamed over the adjacent roads all night, but fortunately did not injure himself on the barbed wire fences that abound in that locality. "It was a dastardly piece of business," said Orrin Hickok. "Directum when found Monday morning, was covered with perspiration, and I fear may catch cold through being exposed all night."

Won the Prize For Photographs.

In a recent issue of a photographic journal published in Chicago appeared an offer to send a sample of paper used by photographers by sending five cents and then return three finished photographs on the same samples, which had been marked with a private mark, the party sending the three finest finished photographs to receive twenty-five dollars. There were about twenty-five who competed for the amount. The following tells its own story:

CHICAGO, ILL., MAY 2, 1894, GEORGE W. WISE., ESQ. DEAR SIR:—As you doubtless know ere this reaches you the first prize in the printing competition falls to you. Permit us to congratulate you on your success and to wish you much felicity and luck in using the paper. Yours sincerely,

JOHN JONES DEAD, WELL ON IN YEARS.

VETERAN BUILDER PASSED AWAY SUNDAY.

Voted For Every President Since the Time of John Quincy Adams—Old Age the Cause of His Death—Funeral of Mrs. George Richards In This City.

John Jones, an early settler in the county, died on Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock of old age, at 225 Washington street, in the ninety second year of his age. He was born in Amsterdam, N. Y., November 22, 1802, and remained there until he was eighteen years old, when he started for the west. He settled in Oswego county, in the town of Parish, which at that time was a wild, wooded county. Here he located a farm and carried on the lumber business. After a few years he returned to the eastern part of the state. At the age of twenty-two he married Sally Fritz, of Germantown, N. Y. In politics he was always a whig and republican. He cast his first vote for John Quincy Adams in 1824 and voted for every president from that time. In 1847 he removed to Little Falls, N. Y., where he engaged in contracting and building until 1860 when he came to Wisconsin. In 1862 he bought a farm of the late Daniel Stone, near the village of Hanover. In 1872 he was appointed postmaster at Hanover, which office he held nearly ten years. In 1885 his wife died and in 1886 he came to Janesville to reside. He was a man of strong, robust constitution, a very energetic, hard working man, temperate in his habits, zealous in every undertaking for the benefit of the people and the good of society. He is survived by three children, John W. and Anna of this city, and Mrs. James S. Vincent, of Little Falls, N. Y., and five sisters, four of whom live in New York and one at Leavenworth, Kansas, and a half brother, W. Dingman, of Janesville. The funeral will be held at his late residence on Tuesday. at 9 a. m., and at the Grove church in Center, at 11, and the interment will be in the cemetry at the Grove church in the town of Center on the family lot beside his wife.

Mrs. George Richards.

The remains of Mrs. George Richards, of Chicago, were buried in Oak Hill Sunday, the funeral party arriving by cars. Brief services conducted by Rev. S. P. Wilder of the Congregational church were held at the grave. The pall bearers were all from Chicago, they being C. W. Rothe, A. B. Safford, H. Fairweather, H. P. Dezard, H. Gillispie, A. H. Stickney. Mrs. Richards, formerly resided here, and leaves one son, Edward Richards of Beloit, and a daughter, Mrs. E Smith of Chicago, both of whom were present at the burial. A number of Chicago friends of the family also attended the burial service.

Victoria's Royal Dislikes.

Edmund Yates says that Queen Victoria refused to purchase the necklace, earrings and brooch of Mary, the queen of Scots, in the Eglinton collection, because Mary was not one of her favorites, and that when she was persuaded to buy for the Windsor castle collection a fine portrait of Charles II., which had come into the market, she thus indorsed the memorandum: "I consent, but with great reluctance, for I do not like Charles II." The sentiment does her credit, but it recalls her interview with Macaulay. The queen said to him: "You have drawn a sad portrait of my ancestor, James II." To which the historian promptly replied: "Your majesty means your majesty's predecessor, not ancestor." Macaulay says in his diary that he meant this for a compliment, and intimates a hope that the queen took it for one.

The Dog Saved the Child.

Dillie, the 12-year-old daughter of John Flock, an Asotin county, Washington farmer, narrowly escaped an attack from a mountain lion. At a sharp turn in the trail the girl came in full view of a large and ugly-looking mountain lion. It slowly advanced toward her, when she called her dog. The dog appeared upon the scene and made for the lion, but kept out of reach of the animal's sharp claws. The dog kept worrying and tormenting the beast to attract its attention from the child until the little girl was out of harm's way, when it too left for the home of its master.

THREE BOOMS STARTED.

At present the republicans most prominently mentioned for the presidential nomination in 1896 are Harrison, McKinley and Reed. If the convention were to open today the contest would apparently be between these three. Of course in instances where strength has been divided up with an approximate approach to equality between two or three aspirants a man who has not figured in the calculations of the prophets has sometimes won. Van Buren, Cass and R. M. Johnson defeated each other in the democratic convention of 1844 and gave the candidacy to Polk, the first of the dark horses, and the like condition of things in 1852, in which Buchanan, Cass, Douglas and Marcy were the favorite sons, let in the second dark horse, Franklin Pierce, while the third dark horse, Garfield, won in 1880 on account of the close contest between Grant and Blaine. However there may be no need of dark horses. A good deal can happen to make or mar the chances of the present leading aspirants in the two years which must pass before the convention meets.

THEY TOIL NOT.

Funny how these "armies of unemployed" can march through so many changing scenes of rural beauty and thrift without experiencing any uncontrollable desire to help the farmer make the crop of 1894 of which they will undoubtedly require a full share in the form of rations. There are currant slugs to be dosed with hellebore, potato bugs to be treated to paris green, and an interesting though destructive, screw worm requiring immediate attention. The farmers offer these and other useful occupations at good wages, but not a man in any of the armies can be induced to respond.

Eau Claire will offer a number of possibilities to the republican state convention, but most prominent among them is a young man well known in this city, F. R. Dougherty. Mr. Dougherty is an old newspaper man who has knocked the spots off Eau Claire democracy several times in running for city clerk, being elected this year by a majority of 1000. His friends are urging his nomination for secretary of state.

As there is $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 more money in the country at present than can be profitably employed, the necessity for state bank currency of any sort, good or bad, is not apparent.

Mr. Cleveland seems bound to make it impossible for the rank and file of democracy to endorse his administration. He has allowed a rule to be made that no saloon keeper can be appointed to office.

The democratic senators do agree on one thing, and that is that the sugar trust should have what it wants in return for the liberal contribution which it made to the campaign fund of their party in 1892.

TO PURIFY GRAVESEND.

Brooklyn Police Will at Once Close All Music Halls.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The annexation of the town of Gravesend to the city of Brooklyn, which has just gone into effect, is of national importance, inasmuch as it brings under municipal government the famous seaside resort, Coney island, which was the citadel of the kingdom of John Y. McKane. The Brooklyn police department will at once assume charge of the town and will blot out the dives, regulate the dance halls and endeavor to drive out the thieves who prey upon the visitors.

Like Father, Like Son.

Colonel Breckinridge has two sons—one a lawyer, the other named for his grandfather, Robert J. Breckinridge, is of a wild disposition. Just before the breaking out of the Breckinridge-Pollard scandal, Bob got on a spree and had several fights. Colonel Breckinridge telegraphed from Washington to put him in jail and keep him there until he returned, which instructions were followed. It was decided to send Bob on a sea voyage, and just as he was boarding a vessel, he read an account of his father's doings with Miss Pollard, and wired his brother: "Put the old man in jail, and keep him until I return, three years hence."

Never Mention His Proper Name.

The emperor of China's proper name is never mentioned; to pronounce it is a criminal offense. On ascending the throne the ruler of the "Middle Kingdom" takes a name by which he becomes known to his people and to history. The present emperor's real, or personal name is Tsai-t'ien; but, on being placed on the throne in 1875, he was given the title of Kuang Hsu, which in English signifies "illustrious succession."

Coxey Home Reserves Formed.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 7.—Several prominent citizens, including the Rev. G. W. Hughey and Col. John O'Day, the well-known railway attorney, have interested themselves in the Coxey "home reserve" movement, and as a result, a "reserve" has been formed. Ten thousand pounds of flour have already been subscribed toward a carload of provisions to be sent to Washington to maintain the army.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, May 7.—George Griffith, who is making a tour around the globe in an endeavor to beat the record made by Nellie Bly, passed through Winnipeg last evening. He is in the best of spirits and confident of beating the record, having reached Winnipeg one day ahead of time.

THE SENSIBLE VIEW.

WOMAN'S SENSITIVE ORGANISM

Does Not Permit Her to Do What Men Do, and She Ought Not To Try.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

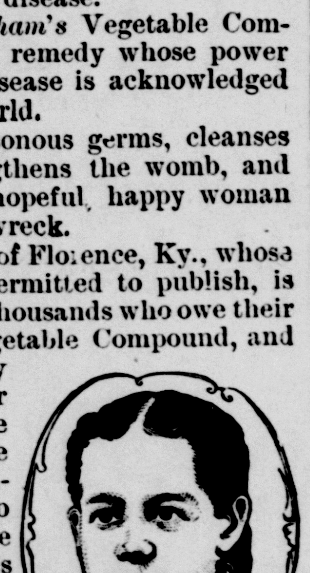
You might as well know that you have a wonderfully sensitive and peculiar organism. You ought to know that from the moment the girl is changed into a woman, the matter of first physical importance to her is the regularity with which nature purifies her system. That all through life this is of the very first importance to her, and that neglect in this direction means misery in every direction.

Stop and reason out what happens when nature is balked in its efforts. The blood takes up the poisonous particles, carries them to the lungs, and decay follows. It carries them to the heart, and before long the organ is weakened, and your courage and strength vanish. It carries them to the brain, and before long the wildest fancies run riot, you think you have every known disease.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one remedy whose power over this killing disease is acknowledged throughout the world.

It destroys poisonous germs, cleanses the system, strengthens the womb, and makes a strong, hopeful, happy woman out of a physical wreck.

Mrs. J. A. Rice, of Florence, Ky., whose portrait we are permitted to publish, is only one of many thousands who owe their health to the Vegetable Compound, and are doing all they can to help other women to believe that the same health and happiness will come to them with the use of Mrs. Pinkham's medicines. She says:



"I suffered eight years from woman's early troubles. I could find no permanent relief until, one year ago, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Relief then came with it almost immediately, and at this time I am a well woman.

"I absolutely know, not only by my own experience, but by others also, that it is a harmless and sure remedy for irregularities, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness of the stomach, sick headache, and female complaints generally.

WAGON LOAD OF PLUNDER CARRIED AWAY.

Burglars Broke Into F. D. Hall's Store at Johnstown Center nnd Made Off With a Lot of Plunder—Girl Sent to Reform School—Brief Bower City Notes.

THIEVES broke into F. D. Hall's general store in Johnstown Center last night. Store and postoffice both suffered. Fully a wagon load of dry goods, hardware and general supplies were taken from the store, while the safe was opened and the postoffice box as well as Mr. Hall's private cash drawer was looted. The work was done very quietly, so quietly that nobody in Johnstown Center knew of it until morning. A hasty examination showed that a wagon must have been used to carry away the plunder which was very bulky. Cash and goods together amounted to $500. A reward of fifty dollars was at once offered by Mr. Hall for the arrest of the thieves, and the Janesville police were notified. Officers Hogan and Cochrane went out to look over the ground and see if any clue had been left.

DON'T get left and pay two prices on the argument that all other stores sell inferior goods. We know about as much about shoes as the majority of two by four dealers and when the claim is made that our stock is composed of rotten stuff we stand up to explain. We have low priced cheap shoes and better grades too and we are willing to leave it with the public if our goods don't out-fit, out-wear and out-price any stuff sold in Rock county. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

DID NOT HOLD COATS FOR THE MURDER.

FULTON MAN IS PROMPTLY DISCHARGED.

Examination in the Municipal Court Develops the Fact that There is No Positive Evidence Connecting the Prisoner With Weibert Tritschler's Death.

Charles Coats will not be tried on the charge of murdering Weibert Tritschler at Fulton two weeks ago.

Upon his examination held before Judge Phelps this afternoon the court decided that the evidence was insufficient to hold him and he was thereupon discharged from custody.

It was reported that Coats had been seen hiding a purse of Tritschler's in a quarry; that neighbors saw him running through the fields on the Saturday night of the murder, and that he was washing blood stains out of his coat Sunday morning but none of these rumors were supported.

A woman did see Coats on the river in a boat and suggested after his arrest that "if he had wanted to wash his coat he had plenty of chance," but this was about all the basis any of the stories had. The blood on the coat is not known to be human blood and an explanation of its presence is said to be ready.

The examination was to have begun at 10 o'clock this morning but was continued until 2 p. m. M. J. Feeney, of Edgerton, appeaing for the defendant and District Attorney Wheeler for the state. Half a dozen witnesses from Edgerton and Fulton were on hand.

"I do not think that the boy is guilty" said Lawyer Feeney. "My preparations are simple; I do not think I will swear any witnesses and I expect Coats will be dismissed. There is no case against him."

"Will Coats' brother explain the blood on his coat?"

"As I said before I think that I will swear no witnesses."

Millington-Fox.

Henry L. Millington, formerly of Janesville but now of Chicago, is a happy benedict. The Mexico (Mo.) Evening Ledger of May 3 says:

"It was little thought Tuesday morning at 3:40 o'clock, when a well dressed gentleman stepped out of the Windsor hotel 'bus and walked up to the register and signed 'H. L. Millington, Chicago,' and asked for a 7 o'clock call that he was to take away one of Audrain's fair ladies. A livery rig was ordered at 10 o'clock and he drove away. He returned about 4 p. m., and registered "H. L. Millington and wife." To the surprise of many he had captured Miss S. A. Fox, youngest daughter of John W. Fox, one of our most prominent and respected farmers in this vicinity. The knot was tied by Rev. W. M. Sapp. Mr. and Mrs. Millington will visit in this section a few days and then return to their home in Chicago."

FOUR MEN MENTIONED FOR CLERK

Republicans Can Hardly Fail in Making Their Nomination This Fall

Candidates for place on the republican county ticket are already in the field, backed by their friends and, are anxious to serve the people. E. D. McGowan, the present clerk of the municipal court, is urged for a renomination for this place, while his nomination will be contested by at least three other republicans, H. S. Sloan, E. C. Burdick and Charles B. Conrad. The republican friends of all these gentlemen are already at work in their behalf. One thing is certain, that a good man is sure to be nominated.

BIG BONFIRE AT CLINTON

Fifty Tons of Straw on Fire Near the C. & N. W. Track

Clinton had a bonfire on a big order Saturday, fifty tons of pressed straw being the fuel. The immense straw pile stood near the track and boys had dug a cave in it for a play house. The place was haunted by tramps and it is supposed that the fire was started by these vagrants. The straw was destined for the Rockton Paper Mills, but the hard times would not justify its shipment.

NO POLITICS IN THE OFFICE.

C. E. Bowles Discusses Postmaster Wilson's Recent Declaration of Policy.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—The dignified (?) and scholarly "Grim Death" article in the last issue of the Recorder, is unworthy of notice except for the falsehoods contained therein. These would seem to justify a word of explanation to the public. A faithful, efficient clerk has been removed without cause or notice. No such removal of clerk or carrier, for political reasons, was made while I was postmaster. Under the classification law of March 2, 1889, the postoffice department on December 1, 1889, for the first time, fixed the salary of each clerk in the postoffice. By this adjustment the salary of the registry clerk was increased from $450 to $600, and that of another clerk with nearly ten years' experience, was reduced from $450 to $300 per annum. To have retained both in the service with equal salaries, required an addition of $300 to the lower salary, by me. This I did not feel justified in paying, in addition to the contributions to salaries I was then making. To enable me to equalize these salaries, on March 1, 1890, after six months' service with me, and with ample notice of the change and an explanation of the necessity therefor, I removed Miss Reddy, who was registry clerk, and appointed my daughter to that position. Thereafter a portion of her "snug salary" was applied in part payment of those clerks who were rated by the department below the grade of their actual duties. Within the past year the allowance for clerk hire has been increased and the salaries of clerks more uniformly graded. Every other change that occurred during my term of office was by resignation of the incumbent. Although the office was not officially declared to be under Civil Service rules until the spring of 1893, my entire practice in the matter of removals was strictly in accordance therewith. The one true statement in the article referred to, is, that I receive a pension. It is for a gun shot wound, and though in amount small, it has enabled me to pay for several years subscription to the Daily Recorder. I do not, however, ask that paper (knowing as it does more about leaving than managing a postoffice) to adjust any matter for me, that is a proper subject for consideration by much higher authority.

S. B. Heddles Looks Out of a Car Window and Sees a Smash-Up.

Alderman S. B. Heddles returned home from a northern trip Sunday evening. "Just north of Baraboo the engineer sounded the whistle for a road crossing," said the First ward alderman. "Immediately after he gave the danger signal and the passengers all looked out of the car windows. I saw a couple of men whirling in the air as the train flew past the crossing, and then the train stopped and we all got out. The wagon which the train struck was kindling wood, it having stood squarely on the track. The men, however, were only bruised, the horses being also slightly injured."

Apportionment Case Delayed.

DANVILLE, Ill., May 7.—The hearing in the Illinois senatorial apportionment case was begun here Saturday before Judge Bookwalter. Ex-Attorney-General Hunt and W. J. Calhoun represented the complainant. Mr. Wilson appeared for County Clerk Tuttle, and with him were Attorney-General Moloney and E. R. E. Kimbrough. Chairman Delos P. Phelps of the democratic state committee was compelled to go to Chicago to look after sub-treasury matters and a continuance was granted until May 14.

FRANCES LYNCH MADE TEMPORARILY INSANE.

Two Men Were Required to Hold Her In the Fire Police Ambulance While She Was on Her Way Home—Hit With an Iron Bar by Boys at Play.

Miss Frances Joyce was temporarily crazed by a blow on the head at the lower cotton mill this noon, and was taken to her home on Eastern avenue, near the Beloit road, by the fire patrol ambulance.

It was during the noon hour, when the employes of the factory were at play that the accidental blow was struck. The boys and girls were together, and two of the boys were fencing with iron bars.

One bar slipped and struck Miss Joyce squarely on the top of the head, cutting a small gash in the scalp and knocking the young lady down. She was picked up unconscious. Reviving she burst into an insane laugh and two men were needed to hold her in the wagon.

Result of Enterprise.

Bort, Bailey & Co advertised Saturday a sale on underwear today. At 8:30 a. m. their large store room was pretty well crowded with ladies buying the goods advertised. As the hours passed away the crowd increased and several times during the day one could scarcely walk through their store. This is only a one of the sales this energetic drygoods house has commenced, watch them from day to day, tomorrow they have something new for you and so it will be every day during the year.

TITCOMB SAYS SHAW SO DO MANY OTHERS

FAMOUS PIANISTS PRAISE THE GAZETTE PRIZE.

Everybody Who Has Examined the Instrument at S. C. Burnham & Co's Says the Things Said in Its Favor Were Justified—Conditions of the Contest.

Everybody in Janesville knows Professor Charles Titcomb.

His judgment on pianos would be taken by anybody.

What he thinks of the Shaw, the piano offered by the Gazette, is shown by his choice of that instrument over all other uprights in the market. He uses it in recitals and his preference is admitted by St. Paul musicians to be well founded. Here is one of the letters to the St. Paul agents of the Shaw company:

ST. PAUL, MINN., NOV. 8, 1819, S. W. RAUDENBUSH & CO. DEAR SIRS:—Owning to the fact that Miss ——refuses to give up her possession of our hall for this evening we have been compelled to postpone the recital till the 31st. I thank you many times for your kindness. Professor Titcomb was completely captivated with the Shaw piano the other evening. Yours truly, W. Allison, Financial Secretary, Y. M. C. A.

That Mr. Titcomb is not alone in his praise of the Shaw is proven by a forty-page pamphlet issued by Raudenbush & Co. and containing the most complimentary letters as to the Shaw's quality. There is no reason to doubt that this instrument ranks in the markets of the country just as Chickerings, Steinways and Knabes, the four occupying first place. Everybody who has seen the Gazette piano is enthusiastic in its praise. It has a pure ringing tone, and its action is very fine. These qualities are what would be expected of a Shaw piano and The Gazette made no mistake in choosing that instrument.

What She Thought.

The teacher had told the small girl with the old woman's ways, the story of George Washington and his little hatchet.

"And did he really tell his papa that he done it with his little hatchet?" she asked.

"Yes."

"Boys is just like men," she said with a wise shake of her head.

This was a bit too deep for the teacher.

"What do you mean by that?" she inquired.

The child seemed surprised at the teacher's ignorance.

"W'y," she replied, "always trying to blame it on somebody else. The little hatchet couldn't help itself."—Detroit Free Press.

JEANIE'S LOVE LETTERS.

JEANIE CAMPBELL came back from the tailor's shop where she worked and found a company of boys and girls congregated round the doorstep of the tall tenement house in which she rented one small, back room. They were hooting and jeering at a man seated in his shirt sleeves on the doorstep placidly smoking a huge German porcelain pipe.

Jeanie pushed her way in.

"What's the matter?"

"Yah—Dutchy! I'nt 'e a blooming softy! Give a boy a shillin' to go an' fetch 'm something to eat, and is witing 'ere for 'm! I'nt 'e a style! Wonder 'ow long he'll wite."

"Who is he?"

"A blooming Dutchy! 'e carnt speak no English 'e carnt — 'as to mike signs—and nobody 'ere carnt speak nothink else. I'nt 'e a softy!"

The girl paused, and looked at the man; there was something in his patient attitude that aroused her pity. Some softer remembrance of the days before she came to this great, wicked London came over her. She went up to the man and signed for him to follow her indoors. She tried to make him understand that he had been robbed. The soft, gentle tones that answered her were quite unintelligible; he smiled, shrugged his shoulders, spread his hands, and looked at her with that calm trustfulness one sees in dogs and children.

She smiled, nodded, pointed up the stairs, and then ran out of the house. She returned with a loaf of bread and a half pound of sausages for him, and a roll for herself, she would make that do; he was a stranger, alone and friendless. She put the things in his hand, pointing down the street as if to indicate that she had brought the things from the boy. He seemed to understand, took her hand and raised it to his lips; the action was so simple, so graceful, that she felt ashamed and ran up the stairs to her own room.

Her comfortless breakfast of dry roll the next morning made her a little regretful of her charity the night before. "He must shift for himself as I have had to do," she thought, and she went out to her day's work. When she returned in the evening she found him standing outside his door. He bowed and smiled, opened the door and showed his various purchases on the table. He had evidently found his way round to the shops.

She went up the stairs feeling the least little bit disappointed that he did not require her help any more. He seemed different from the jaded, vulgar men and women she came in contact with in her city life. The air of the fields seemed to cling to him still. She thought as she toiled up the weary stairs how sweet the country must be looking now. Something was on her table, a little sketch of a sweep of wide hills, with fir forests clinging to their sides, a little cluster of houses with wide, overhanging roofs, and shutters to the windows. A figure was standing in the doorway of one of the houses.

"That is his house," said Jeanie to herself. "What a funny thing to do,

"I DON'T CARE FOR ANYTHING IN THIS WORLD BUT YOU.

to give me a picture of it! I wish I could send him back one of Loch Awe, and our house upon the braes."

The next day was Sunday; she usually passed the morning in bed, tired out with her week's work. When she came down about the middle of the day she met him coming in, evidently in his Sunday best. Could he have been to church? Well, it was clear that he had not learned the manners of Eureka court yet. She tried to express her thanks by looks and smiles. He seemed to understand, and laughed, and then she felt with a quick touch of dismay that he glanced in surprise at her untidy dress and towzled hair.

They did not meet again during the week, but next Sunday morning found Jeanie with her hair out of papers and her hands washed; she was loitering at the street corner when he came back in his spruce clothes. She gave him a pert nod; she felt annoyed with him for some unknown reason, and that evening made herself as resplendent as possible in her cheap, gaudy finery.

"He shall see that I can be smart, too," she thought, and tossed her head as he appeared.

He stopped, and, drawing a notebook from his pocket, rapidly sketched a church-front upon it. She shook her head. He looked puzzled; then his quick fingers drew the outside of one of the commonest type of meeting-houses. She shook her head again, and moved off.

The weather became very hot. Jeanie drooped more and more in the unhealthy workroom and stuffy streets. He seemed to notice it, for on Saturday night she found a drawing of trees, and a path, and figures walking about, and underneath the figures 2.30. Could he be asking her to go for a walk? She waited in to see.

At 2:30 a knock came at her door. There he was, with his square, ugly, good-natured face smiling at her. She felt awkward going down the stairs with him. But that walk did not take place. The smart tie around her neck had been the price of her dinner; she turned faint and reeled, then sat down on the stairs and burst into tears. She hardly knew if she was vexed or pleased to find herself picked up like a baby and carried up to her own room and laid upon her bed.

He went out. In a few minutes she heard her door open, and something pushed along the floor. It was a little jug of hot coffee and milk and a plate of German roles. The next day another picture was left. It represented a large workshop, with men sitting at tables, all busily engaged over some mechanical work; underneath was written the figures 30s. With unskillful fingers she drew an outline of a coat and waistcoat and a needle and thread and posted it as his door as she went out; but she had to come back again, she was so ill, and all day she lay there alone, waiting for what was the only friendly signal in the world to her, the scrap of paper of the foreign artist.

She heard it pushed under the door at last, and feebly rose and groped for it. Her head was throbbing so, that she could scarcely see that it contained a whole line of portraits—an elderly man and woman, and younger faces, among which was his own. His family doubtless. She heard him in the morning come up again, and then she heard him no more, for the fever seized upon her, and when next she woke to consciousness she was lying upon a hospital bed. For days she was too weak to speak or think, but, when she was able, one of the nurses asked her if she would like to see some papers which had been brought to the hospital for her, and the nurse spread them out before her.

The first was of a man following a stretcher through the streets. Then the same man sitting alone in a solitary room, with his head bowed upon his hand and weeping. The next, the same man at a door, evidently asking questions of a porter within. The next, the man was beside a bed on which lay a deathlike figure.

"Has he been to see me?"

"Yes, it was when we thought you were dying he came every day, but we could not tell him anything, no one could speak his language, but at last we found it was Wendish, from the borders of Saxony and Bohemia, and one of the doctors here got him a book in it, by which he could study English. You will see by the sketches."

The next one represented the man with the book in his hand.

"See, this is the last," said the nurse, and as she held it up she laughed. It was the man on one knee before a girl—Jeanie in her outrageous hat; but there was in a little sketch, up in the right-hand corner, as if it was yet in the distance, the same little village with the pine forests around, and two figures, the man and Jeanie, walked arm in arm up the village street. The nurse held her sides for laughing.

"It's the funniest thing I ever saw in my life!" she said.

Jeanie gathered her papers together with some dignity.

"I don't call it funny," she said. "I—I think it just the nicest thing that ever was done to any girl."

"My loofe!" said a voice at her side, and there was the man. Jeanie gave a little cry.

"My loofe!" said the man again; "it is my first Engleesh to you, and it will be my last. My loofe!"

And Jeanie, with all the dreams of her girlhood back upon her, put her arms round his neck, and sobbing, said: "And I don't even know your name, but I don't care for anything in the world but you."—N.Y. Tribune.

A MILLIONAIRE'S FEELINGS.

No Happier Than When Poor, Yet Somehow He Stays Rich.

I have yet to find the man who doesn't wish to be rich, but I have always felt curious to know how it feels to be a millionaire.

The opportunity of getting an answer to this question presented itself to me one day, and the man to whom I addressed the question was none other than George M. Pullman, who is worth $50,000,000 at least, who has made fortunes for others, and who has no one to thank for his success but himself.

Mr. Pullman looked at me very curiously as I asked the question, and then replied in a slow way: "I have never thought of that, but now that you mention it I believe that I am no better off—certainly no happier—than I was when I didn't have a dollar to my name and had to work from daylight until dark.

"I wore a good suit of clothing then and I can only wear one now. I relished three meals a day then a good deal more than I do now. I had fewer cares; I slept better, and I may add generally that I believe I was far happier in those days than I have been many times since I became a millionaire. And yet it is a comfortable feeling to be rich."

And with that he buttoned up his frock coat around his snug form, slowly walked down the hotel steps, painfully crowded his way into a coupe and was driven off. In his younger days he would have walked, and would have been better for it.

THE LAND OF DAMS.

The Parrot Was Talking as It Did in Holland, But She Did Not Want It.

The lady was extremely indignant when she came into the bird store with a parrot in a cage.

"Here," she said angrily, "I want you to take this vile bird back."

"What's the matter with it?" asked the dealer.

"It swears."

"I beg your pardon," he said politely, "but you must be mistaken."

"But I know better," she insisted. "Don't I know swearing when I hear it?"

"I hope not, madam."

"That's all right," she retorted. "I've got a husband."

"But I assure you the bird does not swear."

"And I say it does. It ends nearly every word with damn, and I won't have it."

The dealer's face brightened.

"Is that all?" he asked.

"Isn't that enough?"

"Surely, madam," he explained, "you forget I told you the bird was raised in Holland."

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 106 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

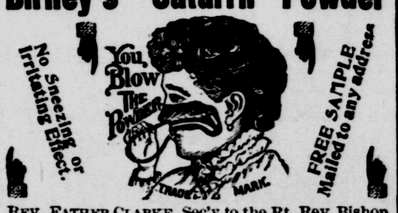
Catarrh
AND
COLD IN THE HEAD
relieved instantly by one application of
Birney's Catarrh Powder



REV. FATHER CLARKE, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes;

GENTLEMEN:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good sisters speak most encouragingly of their use of it in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering.

M. E. FERGUSON, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores, Chicago, writes:

GENTLEMEN:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from many so-called cures which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrhal Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick plainly, it being held 18 inches from my ear. I look upon it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve.
